Some of their stump-speakers have gons still further in their eagerness to show that Fremont will be elected if the election should devolve upon the House of Representatives. They admit that, in that body, Fremo at has an ascertained strength of only thirteen Sates, but, to increase the chances of hie election, they point to Tennessee and Texas, whose Representatives in Congress are equally divided between the American and Democratic parties, and declare that if, contrary to their expectations, the Democratic Congressemen from California or lilinois or lowa should refuse to vote for Fremont, a majority of the Representatives from one or both of these two staunch Southern States may be sociently the Freedom one or both of these two staunch Southern States may be sociently offices. danger whatever that Fremont will be elected y either by the people or by the House of Repreelection by the people and will give to their own noble candidate enough Northern electoral Bulletin, in the course of an article discussion by the people and the prospect, ho votes to insure kis election, if he is supported the political caby the South. There is no need that the election that the old-bit by the South. There is no need that the electron should go to the House of Representatives, and we pray Heaven it may not go there, since we are assured by the organs and leaders of the Democratic party that there is danger that in such an event Fremont will be elected by Democratic votes. There can be no question now as to the only means by which such a lamentable result may be avoided. It cannot be done by giung the votes of the Southern States to James Buchanen. It has become so nearly a fixed fact that there is no longer any doubt in the minds of well-informed, unprejudiced men, that Mr. Buchans cannot carry any Northern State, not even his own native State, Pennsyl-vania. If all the 120 Southern electoral State, not even his own native State, Pennayl.

voles were given to P. votes were given to Buchanan, it would not be sufficient to electhim, and would not prevent the election of Fremont. It is then not only uneless but suicidal for the people of the South to vote for Buchanan. They cannot in that way either defeat Fremont or help themselve hanan is to throw the election into the House of Representatives, where we are assured b Democratic leaders and organs there is dang of the election of Fremont by the venal treason of Democratic Representatives.

It has, however, already been ascertained be ond a rational doubt that Mr. Fillmore wil eive the electoral votes of New York, New ersey, and California, making forty-six North votes. This will insure the defeat of Fre mont in the electoral college, and if to the are added the 120 Southern electoral votes Fill nore will be elected President by the peop the danger of throwing the election into the Constitutional rights of the South will be pr eted, and the Union will be preserved and pe
